

NATIVES IN REVOLT IN NORTHERN INDIA

Ten Thousand Troops of Mohmand Tribe Ready for War.

SIMLA, India, April 23.—A serious native rebellion has broken out in Northern India.

The Mohmand tribe, 10,000 strong, is already in the field. The Mohmands are the best of the native fighters and many Afghans are joining them. Risings of other tribes are imminent.

It is understood all available all-British troops will be mobilized on a war footing today. General Kitchener, commanding England's military force in India, will arrive on the frontier Saturday to take charge of the situation.

Indications that the Ameer of Afghanistan instigated and is encouraging the uprising makes the trouble additionally threatening. If the Ameer's complicity is established a huge campaign will unquestionably become necessary. English relations with the Ameer have been unsatisfactory for some time. He is believed to have a secret agreement with Russia under the terms of which he counts on protection from British vengeance and has long been insolent and aggressive.

The military authorities do not conceal their belief that the only escape from a long, fierce border war lies in cowering the natives by an instant and extraordinarily vigorous campaign. The telegraph wires between Shikhar and Peshawar were cut by the rebels last night.

Several thousand Afghans crossed the Kabul river today and joined the rebellious Mohmand tribesmen. The Amir made no attempt to check the movement. The Mullahs are encouraging the Afghans to fly to the Mohmands' aid and their influence is steadily growing.

ANNUAL CONCERT GIVEN BY REBEW ORCHESTRA

The annual concert of the Rebew Orchestra was given last night in Odd Fellows' Hall, Seventh street northwest, before an audience that filled the hall. A more ambitious program than has ever before been presented by the orchestra was given last night under the direction of Henry W. Weber, organizer of the orchestra, who led the musicians with ease and precision that resulted in many recalls.

The orchestra was assisted by Mrs. Edith D. Bayly, soprano; Mrs. D. Olin Leach, contralto; Thomas L. Jones, tenor; Arthur H. Delbert, basso; Mrs. Thomas L. Jones, accompanist, and Miss Nan Dougherty, violin soloist.

At the completion of the program the floor was cleared and dancing concluded the evening's entertainment.

The overture from "Orpheus" was well received. The concert was given by "Lucia," and a tenor solo, "Nita Gitan," by Thomas L. Jones.

The Rebew Orchestra, organized seven years ago, is composed of forty-four of the best amateur musicians in Washington. It has taken front rank in local musical circles and has shown marked improvement in the character and quality of the music.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE DAY IN THE HOUSES OF CONGRESS

IN THE SENATE.

Senator Rayner spoke in support of his resolution against the encroachment by the Federal Government upon the rights of the States. He said that he would defer the conclusion of his remarks on the Brownsville case until next Monday.

Seth Low, of New York appeared before the Senate Judiciary Committee in support of the Hepburn bill to modify the Sherman law.

The President sent to the Senate the nomination of Assistant Attorney General Milton E. Purdy to be Federal judge for the district of Minnesota.

IN THE HOUSE.

The House considered the bill to forfeit the title to 2,000,000 acres of land in Oregon held by the Harriman interests.

The District Committee reported a bill to the House for 90-cent gas in the District.

The Lilley investigating committee continued its session.

Mr. Sulzer of New York introduced a bill to raise the wreck of the battleship Maine, in Havana Harbor.

Every member of the House received a telegram from the Newspaper Publishers' Association demanding that wood pulp and print paper be put on the free list.

The District Committee favorably reported a bill regulating child labor in the District.

Carlin in Midst of Hard Fight; Old Foe Wants Congress Seat

R. Lindsay Gordon Charges the Alexandria Congressman Is Allied With Machine Which Uses Whisky and Money at the Polls.

Accused of machine subservience, with the free and indiscriminate use of whisky and money at the polls and with being the representative of corporate interests and the gambling elements in Alexandria county, Representative Charles C. Carlin, of the Eighth Virginia district, has the fight of his career ahead of him in his attempt to return to Congress.

From one end of the district to the other the Congressional fight is the subject of discussion to the exclusion of all else. It is talked of before breakfast in the morning, all during the day, and until bed time arrives. R. Lindsay Gordon, who was one of Carlin's opponents in the contest to fill out the unexpired term of Representative John P. Rixey, is again the opposing candidate. He is touring the district every day and making serious charges against Carlin, most of which charges he supports by reading to his audiences.

Gordon spoke before a wildly enthusiastic audience at Herndon last night. According to his own declaration nineteen-tenths of the papers in the District are opposed to his candidacy and "the corporate interests" also are against him. If he is cast down because of the powerful opposition offered his candidacy he does not show it.

Gordon is basing his campaign on the public actions of Representative Carlin and not on differing views in the matter of policies. There were three men in the Congressional race after the death of Representative Rixey, and Gordon ran a fairly close second to Carlin. Inasmuch as the nomination by the Democratic party is equivalent to election, Gordon believes that with the field fairly divided and without the hindrance of a third candidate, he will be able to defeat Carlin.

Determined to Cleanse Politics.

According to the citizens who are taking the most active part in the present campaign, the people of the District are determined to put a stop to the Democratic machine, to put a stop to the use of money at the polls in violation of the pure election law and to exterminate the dispensers of whisky at the polls.

The recent charges in the Virginia constitution provided for the disfranchisement of ignorant negroes. These charges, it was said, were heeded to the letter, supplied with whisky, and given to the negroes. They were given like a small automaton.

By the terms of that particular section of the constitution the illiterate negro is no longer a factor in elections, but, according to repeated statements made by some of the most responsible citizens in Virginia, the machine has transferred its activities to white men. These are the charges on which Gordon bases his campaign.

Crowd at Herndon Rally.

The rally at Herndon last night served as an illustration of the intense interest which is being manifested in the campaign. Farms around in from miles around, and before the meeting congregated at various points and talked politics and the salvation of Virginia, with animation which savored much of the days when the forefathers of these self-same citizens drove to the old meeting house, gun in hand, to protect against British rule.

One of the most effective speakers who accompanied Mr. Gordon was Capt.

Crandall Mackey, Commonwealth's attorney for Alexandria county. Captain Mackey is the man who drove gambler "400" Club, and the first century mark will have been reached.

At noon today Miss Ida Green, who is exerting all her energies toward completing the first hundred, received twenty-five crisp one-dollar bills from Mrs. Edson Bradley. This entitles Mrs. Bradley to two memberships and brings the total membership up to ninety-six.

While the charter membership will be 400, still there is great consolation felt by those who have gotten in on the ground floor of the first hundred. Miss Green is anxious to fill out the hundred, and says that several philanthropic individuals are waiting for the ninety and nine to be safely in the fold, and then jump forward that they may be counted as the hundredth member.

It's all a chance, and those who are waiting to be given the number one hundred may as well throw in their lot at once now that this figure is but four ahead, and take a chance on being given that position.

Following is a list of those who have joined since the report from the 400: Charles A. Goldsmith, 87, T. E. Ogram, 88, Anonymous, 88, William Hahn, 89 and 91, Corby Brothers Bakery, 92, Eldridge E. Jordan, 92, Mrs. Alexander Britton, 95 and 96, Mrs. Edson Bradley. Miss Green hopes to reach the 100 mark before the day is over.

Takes Carlin's Side.

James E. Clements, of Alexandria, a Carlin supporter, had heard of the proposed Gordon rally and went to Herndon to attend it. With Chesterfieldian courtesy, as he himself remarked, the Gordon advocates invited him to present the Carlin side of the question to a Gordon audience, and proceeded to do so in a speech which, as full of epigrams and humor. The same Chesterfieldian courtesy which granted him the right to speak, prompted Mr. Clements to use delicate language in telling Mr. Gordon to put his candidacy aside.

He extolled the virtues of Mr. Carlin, and in support of this contention he gravely ventured an assertion that Speaker Cannon "speaks kindly to Mr. Carlin when they meet." Mr. Clements did not take kindly to the laughter which greeted his remark about "Uncle Joe," and as he told of the kind way in which Senator Martin treated Mr. Carlin he roared "Laugh at that!"

Mr. Gordon at the outset of his speech proceeded to take a fall out of John Sharp Williams for interfering with Virginia politics. His attention had been called to a letter written by Mr. Williams to Mr. Carlin, advising him to remain in Washington rather than to go back to his district and discuss the charges which had been made against him.

Gordon Speaks.

Mr. Gordon then opened up with some hot campaign material. "The corporations are not again to own me," he said, "either directly or through the machine."

"When a man dares to tell the truth he has a fight on his hands, but when he has to fight against money and whisky, he is fighting unfair methods."

Mr. Gordon then produced a number of affidavits to support his charges that whisky and money had been used at the last Congressional election by machine managers. These affidavits stated that Carlin, his agents and friends, had on many occasions used both whisky and money to obtain votes. Other affidavits charged that money and whisky had been offered by Carlin and rejected by the men whom he had approached.

Predict Gordon Victory.

The friends of Mr. Gordon, in Herndon, are absolutely confident that he will be selected as the party nominee. In support of this they point out that those who voted for Judge Nichol last year will throw their votes to Gordon this year. An effort is now being made to induce the Republican party to make a tour of the district to relate the political situation in Alexandria county and the alleged part played in the affairs there by Carlin.

In a statement made public today Representative Carlin takes issue with the charges made by Mr. Gordon, and denies the statements made in the affidavits ready nightly by Mr. Gordon. He specifically denies that liquor or money at the polls last year, it is intimated that as soon as Congress adjourns Mr. Carlin will take the stump.

TIMES NEWSIES GUESTS AT 'PRINCE OF PARCHEESI'

When the debutantes who go to make up the society cast in the musical comedy, "The Prince of Parcheesi," go on the stage tonight they will be given a royal greeting by at least one section of the audience. A block of one section has been reserved in the gallery for the Times newsboys. On this occasion they will be the guests of Miss Ruth Halford, the manager of the production. Society has been a constant visitor at the Belasco since the first public performance of "The Prince of Parcheesi" and fashionable gowns have prevailed all over the house, but Miss Halford has a soft place in her heart for the little newsies who sell the Times, so through the management of the paper today she invited the boys to be her special invited guests this evening. They were given tickets when they called for their papers this afternoon.

HUNTING HOUSE VOTES FOR CURRENCY MEASURE

Leaders of the House were busy today on the floor and in consultation rooms trying to convince the entire membership of the Republican side that enactment of financial legislation this session is a party necessity. The argument used is that if Congress adjourns without enacting such a law and if the financial crisis of last October is repeated even in a mild form next October, the result will be defeat at the polls for the Republican ticket in November. With this reasoning, it is hoped by the leaders that they can, by caucus, pledge the Republicans to pass the Vreeland bill as a substitute for the Aldrich measure. It also prevailed today that there is a strong probability that the Fowler bill, if passed, will be put through in such a manner as to make the commission a much smaller body than is provided in this bill, that number being forty-three men.

"FOUR HUNDRED" NEAR CENTURY NOW

Only Four More Members
Needed to Make
First Hundred.

Only four more applications for membership in the popular Washington "400" Club, and the first century mark will have been reached.

At noon today Miss Ida Green, who is exerting all her energies toward completing the first hundred, received twenty-five crisp one-dollar bills from Mrs. Edson Bradley. This entitles Mrs. Bradley to two memberships and brings the total membership up to ninety-six.

While the charter membership will be 400, still there is great consolation felt by those who have gotten in on the ground floor of the first hundred.

Miss Green is anxious to fill out the hundred, and says that several philanthropic individuals are waiting for the ninety and nine to be safely in the fold, and then jump forward that they may be counted as the hundredth member. It's all a chance, and those who are waiting to be given the number one hundred may as well throw in their lot at once now that this figure is but four ahead, and take a chance on being given that position.

Following is a list of those who have joined since the report from the 400: Charles A. Goldsmith, 87, T. E. Ogram, 88, Anonymous, 88, William Hahn, 89 and 91, Corby Brothers Bakery, 92, Eldridge E. Jordan, 92, Mrs. Alexander Britton, 95 and 96, Mrs. Edson Bradley. Miss Green hopes to reach the 100 mark before the day is over.

WATER POWER BILLS OPPOSED BY PRESIDENT

The President today transmitted to the Senate Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce a report from the Waterways Commission on a number of bills for the granting of water power in different parts of the country. The commission recommends that these bills be modified so as to protect more fully the interests of the public.

In sending the report of the commission to the committee the President has written a brief letter in which he emphasizes the importance of making such changes in the bills as the commission recommends.

He says the measures are of the most far-reaching importance and enormous sums of money are involved and that hasty action should not be taken by Congress. One of the bills is for the improvement of the Tennessee river over the Elk River shoals and at Muscle Shoals.

This proposed grant of water power is an enormous one and the Waterways Commission should merely provide for surveys in connection with it.

ROY WILL BE TRIED IF NATION ASKS IT

PARIS, April 23.—If the United States asks it, Paul Roy will be tried here on the charge of murdering his brother-in-law, George Carkins, in Newington, N. H., last January. Otherwise the case will be permitted to drop. Examining Magistrate Roucard went into the case fully with Roy yesterday and is satisfied with the young Frenchman's version of the Carkins killing, unless, of course, Roy's wife, the former Glacis Calla, or other witnesses are prepared to controvert his story.

Though the hearing was secret it is understood Roy set up the plea of self-defense. He and his lawyer, Antony Buis, furnished satisfactory assurances that Roy will be on hand to stand trial if the United States Government decides to push the case.

SOUTHEAST HOUSES BOUGHT FOR $10,600

Israel Furr Buys Two Business Properties on Pennsylvania Avenue.

One of the largest sales of property made in southeast Washington for several weeks was that consummated yesterday when Israel Furr purchased the three buildings at 331 1/2, 333 and 335 Pennsylvania avenue southeast at public auction for $10,600. The buildings are all business properties. The sale was made through the firm of Thomas J. Ourn and Low.

Mrs. Bonnie R. Herriage has purchased the two-story colonial house at 1333 Monroe street, Columbia Heights. The house is about completed and will be used by the purchaser as a residence. It is the last of the Monroe street row of houses recently built by Louis E. Breuninger, and was sold for $6,250. N. L. Sansbury made the sale.

Louis N. Simpson has bought the lot on Twenty-second street, in the Sherwood subdivision, through the Edwards Land & Building Company. Work will be begun shortly on a residence which the purchaser will occupy. The price for the ground was $750.

Louis Gundling has bought a house in the Sherwood subdivision from Edwards Land & Building Company. The price was $2,000.

Mrs. Julia R. Pearce, of the Agriculture Department, has bought the house at Bartlett E. Harper on Kearney street northwest, for $2,500. The sale was made through the Edwards Land & Building Company.

Charles W. King, Jr., has sold his two brick dwellings, at 1331 and 1333 Monroe street northwest, which are now under construction. They will be ready for occupancy by May 15. Stone & Fairfax made the sale.

Mrs. Mary P. Minister has purchased the two-story dwelling, at 1532 Kramer street, in the Rosedale subdivision, as an investment, from Charles P. Fletcher. The price was $2,750. The sale was made through the firm of Willard, Gibbs & Daniel.

WE'LL RANK FIRST, SAYS CHAMP CLARK

"The day of controversial religion in this country has passed, and the day of practical religion is at hand. I am glad of it."

This sentiment was uttered last night by Champ Clark of Missouri in an address before the members of the Brotherhood, at their monthly meeting in the Baptist Church. Mr. Clark's topic was "The United States of America in the Twentieth Century."

"The dawn of the year 2000 will see us the first power on the earth, and there will be a scramble among the other nations for second place," said the speaker. "When our republic was established there was but one other; now there are twenty-six. Not one of the South American republics could have existed had it not been for the United States. Ours is the only nation on the face of the earth that has stood for an ideal, not by the mailed hand, not by force of arms, but by the wholeness of our character."

Mr. Clark pointed out the great strides that had been made in the prohibition movement and he pointed out the impossibility of getting a drink south of the Potomac river.

HUB HIPPODROME CLOSES; SALARIES ARE DUE TO 300

BOSTON, April 23.—The Boston Hippodrome closed today on account of the bad business. The Hub could not support such an institution, according to the management of the huge indoor circus.
